Dear Madam or Sir,

Your development plan is government sponsored environmental vandalism. I can see no way that a housing estate can be 'greener' than the field it replaces.

If more housing is necessary then formulate a plan that leads to sustainable housing then build on brown field sites only. The current system of house building only treats the immediate symptoms - the need for more houses - rather than the cause - an economic system that constantly requires growth. Even if we build ten million houses this year our system will need more houses in a few years time.

Yours sincerely
